

North Richmond Community Health centre site works

Construction of stage one of the new North Richmond Community Health centre at 23 Lennox Street, Richmond is scheduled to commence next month.

Preparation for construction is already underway. This includes the establishment of the construction site, demolition of the community rooms and facilities at the rear of the centre and the establishment of new pathways to ensure safe and ongoing access from the Richmond Housing Estate to the centre.

The North Richmond Community Health centre will remain operational during these works and will continue to provide all services. Clients and the community should continue to enter the centre through the main entrance facing 23 Lennox Street.

We apologise for any inconvenience as we work to build a new facility that will provide the community with an increased range of high quality public health services. The redevelopment will be complete by the end of 2012.
